

Future Founders

Blue Ocean Competition

BLUE OCEAN
COMPETITION

Competition Pitch Video Requirements

- You need to submit a 3–5 minute video about your product
- You must also complete the online Blue Ocean Mini–Course before submitting your pitch.
- Pitches should be video files and must be under 5 minutes in length. The files must be under 1 GB.
- Pitches received after the submission deadline (Feb 22, 2026, midnight) will not be accepted.

Use this link to read over other rules for the Blue Ocean Competition –

<https://blueoceancompetition.org/compete/#competition-rules>

Recommended Template

Using this templates provided by Blue Ocean to structure your pitch WILL increase your chances of winning.

Link:

<https://docs.google.com/presentation/d/14xuWaLiXuzgJwFRmzn4vFGKUJHvmCqT0/edit?slide=id.p1#slide=id.p1>

Tools for Pitch Video

- You can use any platform to create and edit you video
- There is no set format for pitches (voice-over animation or graphics or talking heads). CapCut and Adobe Premiere Pro are good choices.

However ...

Use of Blue Ocean tools to describe your business idea is mandatory. While it is not mandatory to use all the blue ocean tools below, to have a chance at winning the Blue Ocean Student Entrepreneur Competition, you should use the To-be Strategy Canvas, the Three Tiers of Noncustomers, and the Eliminate-Reduce-Raise-Create Grid well.

Link to Mandatory Blue Ocean Tools

<https://blueoceancompetition.org/blue-ocean-tools-templates/>

MUST USE !!!

Submission Checklist

<https://blueoceancompetition.org/submit/>

Use this checklist when you're done and ready.

Judging Criteria

Category Score	5	4	3	2	1	Suggested Blue Ocean Strategy Tools for Students to Use
Value Innovation (20%)	Concept is a novel idea that achieves both differentiation and low cost to create a new market space where there is no competition.	Between 5 and 3.	Similar core products/services exist. The concept has significant differentiation from the competition, but it does not achieve low cost.	Between 3 and 1.	Concept provides no perceivable differentiation from competing products.	Use Eliminate-Reduce-Raise-Create Grid to show how your idea achieves differentiation and low cost simultaneously.
Market Potential (20%)	Problem the concept solves is significant with a wide appeal.	Between 5 and 3.	Problem the concept solves is either significant for a small set of customers or less significant for a large set of users.	Between 3 and 1.	Problem the concept solves is neither significant nor common.	Use the Three Tiers of Noncustomers Framework and the Buyer Utility Map to show the wide appeal of your offering.

Commercial Viability & Scalability (20%)	Business model makes a compelling argument for commercial viability and scalability, with the potential of mass adoption.	Between 5 and 3.	Business model seems commercially viable but scalability seems plausible.	Between 3 and 1.	The concept does not seem commercially viable.	Provide profitability model, go-to-market plan or end-user feedback.
Technical Feasibility (20%)	No new technology is required, or the technology required to develop the concept already exists and is feasible.	Between 5 and 3.	Some of the technology required to develop the concept exists but likely not at a feasible price point.	Between 3 and 1.	Technology required to develop the concept is far fetched or not feasible at all.	Present research or facts to confirm the technical feasibility of your offering.
Quality of Presentation & Use of Blue Ocean Tools (20%)	The concept is clearly articulated using the appropriate blue ocean tools and frameworks; message is clear and compelling and presented with great interest and enthusiasm.	Between 5 and 3.	Message is somewhat clear and compelling, good interest and enthusiasm, able to explain how product/service works at a high level.	Between 3 and 1.	Message is unclear and group shows little enthusiasm. The group is unable to explain how the product/service works in a way that's understandable by the judges.	Use Strategy Canvas to clearly show the competitive landscape and how your offering stands apart.

Future Founders

Thank You

Every new idea begins with your leadership.