Marketing

THE LARGER MARKET FORMULA

Most competitors today are just focusing on the people that want to buy - only 3%.

97% in total is left because your potential customers are still gathering information about their problem, or just know that they have a problem.

The biggest chunk is actually unaware that they have a problem, but still face this issue.

DISCOVERY

6 Steps to Run a Successful Discovery Call

- 🔍 Do your research
- ☎️ Set a clear call agenda
- 📄 Establish two-way rapport
- 🎯 Focus on the prospect's pain points
- ✅ Guide the prospect toward the solution
- ★ Don't neglect the after-call review

Discovery calls are one of the most important things while talking to a potential customer.

Key Point - Talk as though your customer is telling you their problem in a genuine conversation, rather than forcing anything.

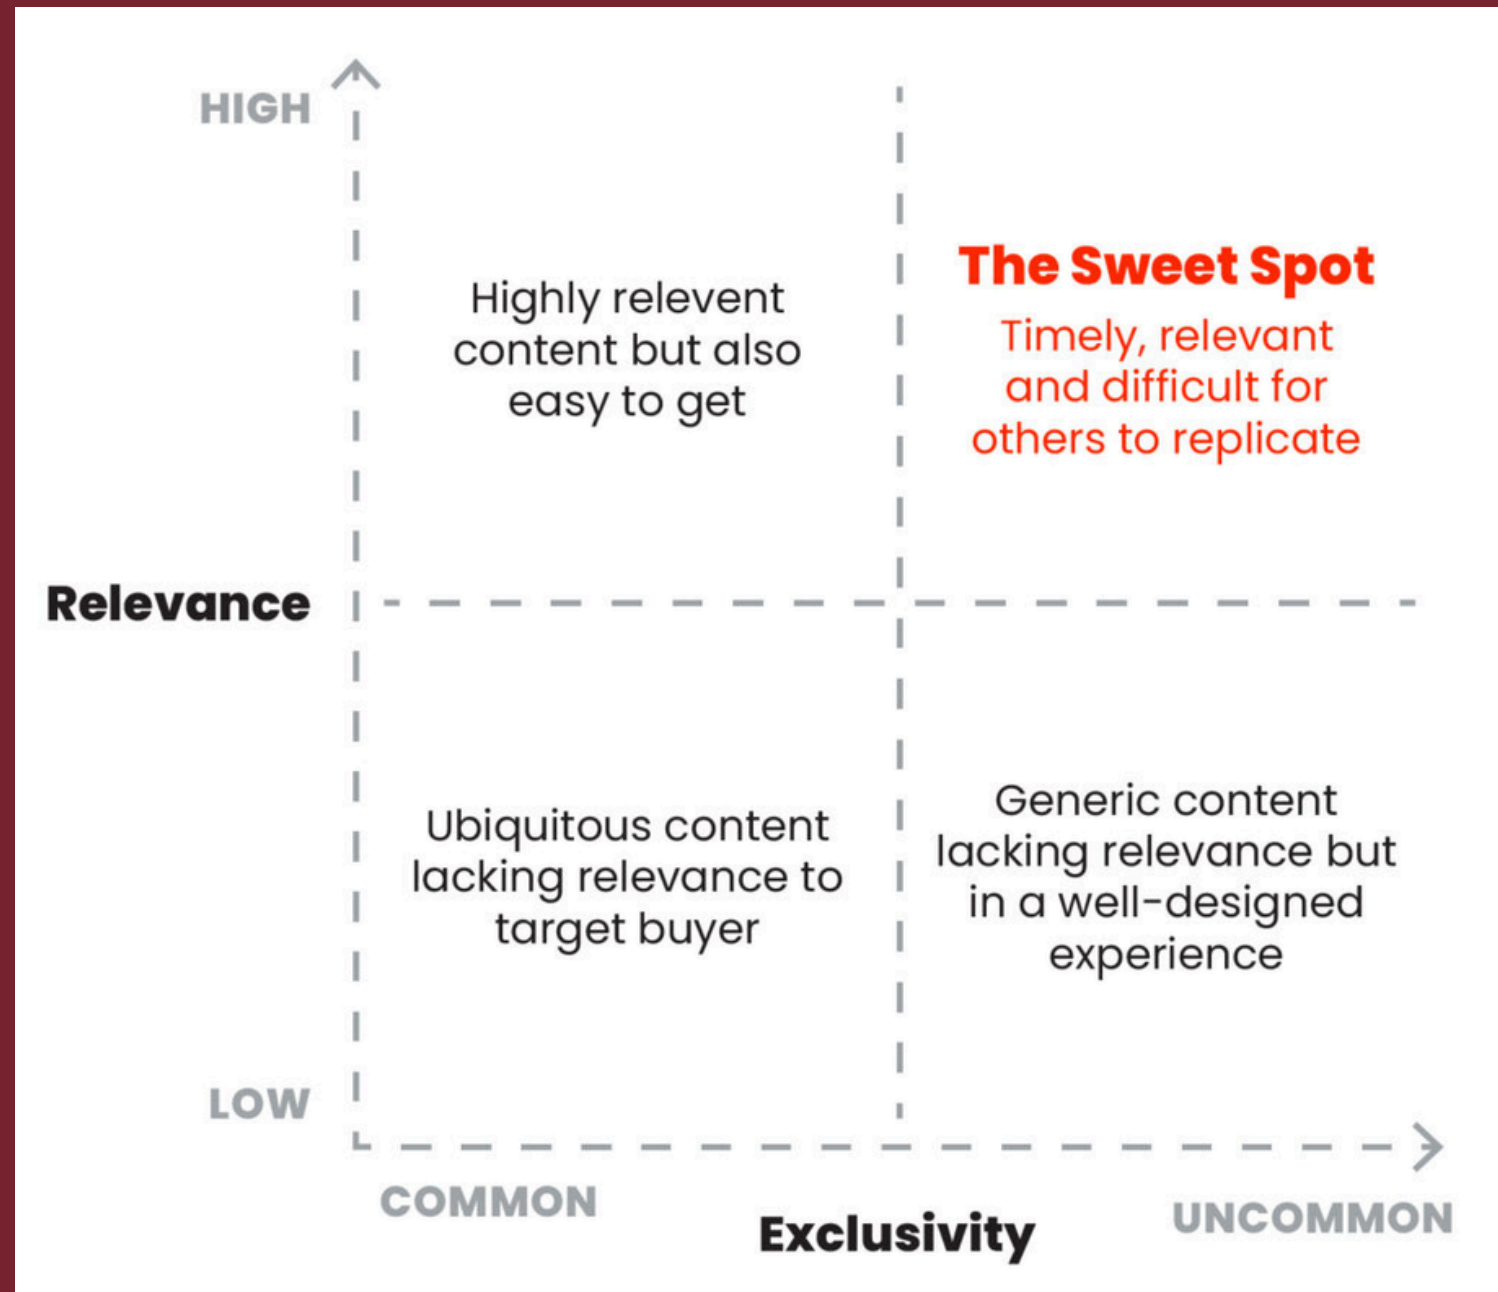

Connection and depth matters more than anything.

Even in advertising, connection matters more than anything, because there are so many competitors.

The level of connection and the effort you make to connect with your customers is what'll set you apart.

After you connect - sell the experience, not the product.

HIGH-VALUE OFFERS

Unlike standard demand generation, these offers focus on solving specific, complex problems rather than just lowering prices.

Effective HVOs are often interactive and build momentum within target accounts.

- The Goal: To position yourself as the expert and build something of value at scale.
- Your free content should aim to be just as valuable or more valuable than your competitors' products.

THE GODFATHER OFFER

MAKE THEM AN OFFER THEY CAN'T REFUSE

Whether you're on call, or advertising through social media, the Godfather offer is the one thing that sells really quick.

Key point that you have to act upon is that you must emphasize why they must ACT NOW.

SELL LIKE A DOCTOR, NOT A SERVANT

- THIS BASICALLY MEANS THAT YOU SHOULD SELL TO CUSTOMERS' SPECIFIC PAIN POINTS!
